- Bachelor of Arts (Business Administration) degree

Your strengths

You know how to meet your personal targets. For this demanding training program and your subsequent career you will need above-average commitment, excellent specialist knowledge and a keen sense of responsibility. You will need to be willing and able to take the initiative and to work in interdisciplinary teams. Excellent written and oral communication skills are also essential.

Requirements

- Graduation from High School
- Above-average grades in German, English and mathematics

Vocational training and Bachelor degree

MIBS is a practically oriented qualification offered by Bayer. The starting point is a vocational training course, leading to a qualification as a commercial assistant. At the same time, you start studying for a degree in Business Administration at the private University for Practical Business Studies (FHDW) in Bergisch Gladbach, Germany. Lectures for the degree course take place during normal working hours. As well as a thorough knowledge of economics and business administration, it will give you an opportunity to develop a range of soft skills. The degree course leads to a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) qualification. The program includes the study of two foreign languages from the very beginning.

Prospects

As a global player operating in the areas of healthcare, nutrition and high-performance materials, Bayer needs outstanding employees with a firm grounding in international business to meet the growing demands of today's global markets. That's why we run this program as an excellent springboard for your future career. At the end of the program you will be qualified to take on demanding assignments at Bayer Group companies. Periods of foreign study and work in project teams will shape the skills you need for an international career. If you are interested in taking further courses, you can benefit from the support we offer our employees. Options include a part-time master's degree course in Germany or abroad, or a full-time MBA program at one of our partner universities in the United States, Asia or another European country.
